Dear Chantal:

The U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC) has completed the review of your application to certify Global Security India 2010, New Delhi, India, April 28-30, 2010, and I am pleased to inform you that Certification will be granted upon receipt of the completed and signed Participation Agreement, Intellectual Property Rights Attestation Agreement, and Indemnification Form (you have already submitted your check for the $2,000 certification fee).

Through Certification, the Commercial Service of the Department of Commerce endorses Global Security India 2010 as an excellent opportunity to showcase U.S. products and services. Your payment of the non-refundable certification fee signifies your agreement to comply with the procedures and requirements of the Trade Fair Certification Program published in the Federal Register on April 30, 1993. The fee will be used to provide you with promotional support and on-site assistance specifically related to this certified event.

Please fax or expressmail your completed and signed forms to:

Domestic Commercial Service Trade Specialists are prepared to help your exhibitors utilize Commerce Department programs to enhance the effectiveness of their show participation. Popular programs include the Gold Key Service and the International Partner Search, which can provide advance contacts and private appointments for your exhibitors with prime buyers before, during, and after the show. Please refer to www.export.gov for further information on U.S. Department of Commerce export promotion programs. We would be glad to work with you to arrange these services for your exhibitors through our domestic offices or directly with our foreign Commercial Service colleagues located at U.S. embassy/consulate offices throughout the world.

Our decision to endorse Global Security India 2010 is based on your previous success in providing opportunities for U.S. exhibitors to explore world markets. We wish you much success in increasing participation in this event by U.S. exhibitors, particularly for new-to-market/new-to-export firms.

Sincerely,

Michael Thompson
Manager
Trade Fair Certification Program
