Global Security India 2010 showcases "Challenges & Solutions to Enhance India's Security"

Government VIP delegations, professionals and exhibitors exchange ideas on Homeland Security issues facing India

New Delhi, 23 April, 2010 - Global Security India 2010 (GSI), the dedicated International Exhibition and Conference on Homeland Security will open in New Delhi, India on the 28th April 2010, at The Ashok Hotel.

This 3-day Event will be inaugurated by Shri Gopal K Pillai, the Home Secretary of the Government of India on 28th April, and we have received letters of support from Her Excellency, Smt Pratibha Devisingh Patil, The President of Republic of India, the Ministry of Home Affairs and many other Government Agencies.

Mr Andrew Marriott, Managing Director said, "GSI 2010 is a dedicated counter-terrorism platform serving the Indian Government and its Homeland Security Agencies. It brings together under one roof leading international companies and experts in their respective fields to discuss solutions and challenges facing the Indian sub-continent."

Bellwether companies including Israel Aerospace Industries, MILSYS, EADS, Motorola, General Dynamics, Northrop Grumman, Steria, Glock, Kommlabs and Smith & Wesson are among over 50 companies from 13 countries who will be present to meet VIP Delegations and Trade Professionals involved in the evaluation and procurement of Homeland Security equipment in India.

The Exhibition, which is free for all trade and professional visitors, and officially endorsed by the US Department of Commerce and A/DJS, will showcase the latest technology solutions in Homeland Security covering areas of Security Screening, Biometrics, Land, Air and Sea Security, Cyber Security, Critical infrastructure Protection, Intelligence and Training Methods, CBRN Threats, Surveillance and Security Risk Management.

Running concurrently with the Exhibition will be a 3-day Conference which will be free of charge to all visitors.
